

HP Names Herbert Koeck EMEA Chief

Written by Marco Attard
30 January 2015

HP Inc., the PC and printer half of the soon-to-split HP, names Herbert Koeck EMEA chief as the company finalises the management teams set to lead its two offspring, HP Inc. and Hewlett-Packard Enterprise.

In other words Switzerland-based Koeck retains his role within the company, since he is already in charge of the HP PC and print business within our territory. He is an HP veteran, having joined the company's Austrian business in the mid-1980s. Since then he has held a number of senior roles within the company.

In further HP management details Meg Whitman takes control of HP Enterprise as CEO, while Dion Weisler is HP Inc. CEO. HP Enterprise has Cathie Lesjak as CFO and Martin Fink as CTO and HP Labs leader, while HP Inc. management includes COO Jon Flaxman and CTO Shane Wall.

Go Update on Hewlett-Packard Enterprise and HP Inc. Leadership