

Logitech announces the C925e Webcam-- a webcam designed optimised for professional videconferencing with support for 1920 x 1080 video at up to 30fps, H.264 video compression and integrated autofocus.

Also included is automatic low light correction. On the audio side the webcam features integrated dual stereo microphones complete with automatic noise reduction. Connectivity comes through USB, while a universal clip should fit all laptops, LCDs and CRT monitors.

Being a professional webcam it has all required certifications and qualifications, including Skype for Business, Cisco Jabber and WebEx, Zoom, BlueJeans, and Google Hangouts. It is compatible with Windows, Mac and even Linux PCs.

The C925e Webcam is available now.
