

NextiraOne Intros WAN Offering

Written by Marco Attard
06 June 2012

NextiraOne launches LinkerConnect in France-- a WAN offering allowing customers to build inter-site communications networks according to their own service, availability and performance needs.

The service includes all requirements customers demand, including image streaming (including multi-cast), data centre interconnection within disaster recovery planning and user mobility.

Such networks are also free from dependence on traditional telecoms operators.

NextiraOne supports LinkerConnect with its own "Linker" national network spanning over 200 sites across Europe, together with a number of vendor partners (Cisco, Juniper and Alcatel-Lucent).

Go NextiraOne Launches Unique WAN Offering in France