

The Business of Document Management is Never Done

The Network Document Solutions Forecast (2008 – 2013) by InfoTrends says double-digit growth is ahead.

And that growth (for each of 4 solutions categories: device management solutions, document capture/routing solutions, document management solutions, and document output management solutions) is expected to continue well beyond the forecast period.

Although it is already a well-established category within the network document solutions market, document management output solutions should hit a notable 22 % CAGR in the forecasted period.
